

Description

The @CommonSpirit Health Virtual Ethics Internship provides an opportunity to build practical experience and familiarity with health care ethics in a health system. We are seeking unpaid Ethics Interns to assist part-time with various projects in the Theology and Ethics Department. They will work with the Senior VP of Mission Innovation, Theology, and Ethics, our System VP of Theology and Ethics, and Division ethicists. Examples of projects and opportunities include:

- Clinical Ethics Intensives: Preparing for and supporting Health Ethics Seminars, two-day training programs for Ethics Committee members throughout CommonSpirit Health
- Key Department Ethics Initiatives: Participating, developing and maintaining ethics initiatives/research/tools across our health system regarding clinical, organizational or social ethics.
- Ethics Data Initiatives: Assisting with data initiatives such as predictive modeling for clinical ethics consults, as REDCap database used to document ethics consults, or patient data related to ethics consults.
- Intentional Executive Networking: Scheduling meetings with health care executives in various roles to increase exposure and awareness of roles and projects within a diverse, national health system.
- Ethics Committee Development: Participate in meetings, also assist with ethics consults within an ethics committee as appropriate
- Podcast Development: Leading a podcast and assisting with EthicsLab podcasts, available here: missiononline.net/ethics/ethics-lab
- Others identified by the intern related to their interest, academic focus, or expertise.

This #remote opportunity will allow you to share your experience in our $30B organization and possibly gain university credits depending on your program's options. We will work with the university to provide school credit for the internship experience.

Requirements

Enrolled in a doctoral or master's program in bioethics, health care ethics, theology, philosophy, medical humanities, law, healthcare administration, or other healthcare related fields. The ideal applicant has interest in clinical or organizational ethics, innovation, and informing public audiences about these issues. They have excellent communication skills, work well with others, are a quick learner with attention to detail, and solid organizational skills.
